WHAT'S CHANGING

Homes are about to feel warmer.

For years, cold gray and plain white ruled almost every room. That is shifting. Paint makers across the industry are calling for deeper, warmer, more natural color in 2027. Think mossy green, soft blue, warm terracotta, and creamy neutrals with real depth.

It still feels calm and easy to live with. Just a lot less plain.

● Mossy green ● Warm terracotta ● Soft blue ● Warm neutrals

SNEAK PEEK

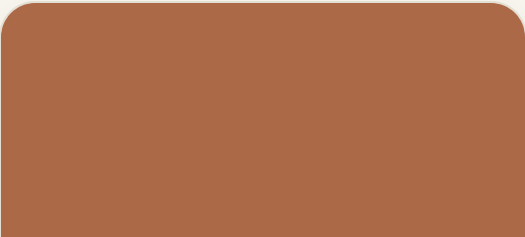

Four colors leading the shift.

Grounded

Behr T27-01

A mossy olive green with earthy brown undertones.

Deep Rooted

Dutch Boy 311-7DB

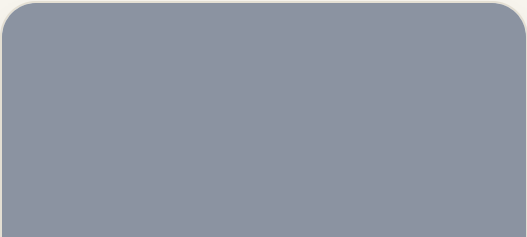

A warm, earthy terracotta with a lot of personality.

Cottage Door

Valspar 8004-38E

A mid tone neutral blue, calmer than green, warmer than gray.

Rewild

Sherwin Williams, 48 colors

An expressive forecast for rooms that don't need to match.
